Ph.D, DACVP

OBSERVATIONS

Spleen: Submitted are 6 excellent videos of minimal collections of cells from the spleen in Quinn. The cells present are red blood cells associated with a mixture of nucleated RBCs, lymphocytes, neutrophils and eosinophils. There were aggregates of platelets. There is no suggestion of malignancy in this collection. There is mild inflammation.

PATIENT

Quinn West

INTERPRETATION OF THE FINDINGS & FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

Spleen - Mild splenitis with a mixture of cells.

COMMENTS

SPECIES The cellularity is minimal but certainly not specific. There is no suggestion of malignancy or sepsis. There are changes that suggest possible inflammation. This could be primary inflammation in the spleen or secondary to other problems such as pancreatitis and enteritis or inflammation in other organs. Hemosiderin was identified. Continued evaluation of other organs for the potential of other inflammatory processes is encouraged.
