PRESENTING CLINICAL SIGNS

Left hind leg swelling with bruising on inner thigh, severe hard swelling with firmness. Noted a few days ago. Has been on Meloxicam SID and Vetoryl 20mg 2 caps SID.

LIMITED ULTRASONOGRAPHIC EXAMINATION

A leg mass was imaged in this patient, measuring approximately 5.7 cm x 5.1 cm with hypoechoic proliferative tissue. This is strongly consistent with sarcoma. Regional inflammation was noted as well. The margins were ill-defined with regional fascial escape and may be resectable, however the mass is not completely encapsulated with margins of approximately 7.0 cm to 8.0 cm. The mass appeared to be muscle based.

ULTRASONOGRAPHIC FINDINGS

- Muscle based mass- suspect sarcoma.

INTERPRETATION OF THE FINDINGS & FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

FNA could be considered with CT for surgical planning or limb amputation. Abdominal sonogram is recommended to assess for metastatic disease as well as chest radiographs. Bone involvement does not appear to be an issue.
